OVERVIEW Questions:

1. Who may give the reply speeches for each team? (may be more than one)
   - First Speaker
   - Second Speaker
   - Third Speaker
   - Fourth Speaker

2. What are the three areas of evaluation by judge and percentages of weight given in the debate?
   ___________ ___________% ___________ ___________% ___________ ___________%

3. Is it possible to award the winning team fewer points overall than their opponents, i.e. give a low-point win?
   Yes / No

MOTIONS Questions:

4. When debating a motion it should be considered on a _____________ scale.

5. If the motion asks the debaters to create a policy they should provide a ________________.

6. The Opposition team may offer its own solution to the problem called a counter-mechanism?
   True / False

SPEAKER ROLES 1 Questions:

7. The test for good definitions and burdens in the debate is ________________________________.

8. The only other time the Opposition team can give its own definitions and burdens is when the Proposition team has ________________________________.

9. The opposition team should give their own _____________________ defending their side of the debate.

SPEAKER ROLES 2 Questions:

10. What are the 3 main responsibilities the second speaker has in their speech?
    ________________  ________________  ________________
11. All key arguments should be connected back to the ___________________ established in the beginning of the debate.

12. Judges should expect to hear new arguments in the third speech.
   True / False

13. Knowing the key areas of clash in the debate falls under the ____________ portion of the judging rubric.

SPEAKER ROLES REPLY Questions:

14. What are the minimum and maximum amount of points a speaker can receive for a reply speech?
   Minimum: ________  Maximum: ________

15. What can the opposing team not do during the reply speech? _________________________________

POINTS OF INFORMATION Questions:

16. The opposing team can only offer points of information after __________ and before __________.

17. The opposing team can only ask for Points of Information every ______ seconds or it is considered “barracking” and is against the rules.

18. Each speaker should take ________ Points of Information during each 8-minute speech.

ETIQUETTE Questions:

19. Debaters may talk to each other at their table while the other team is speaking but may not speak to the speaker?
   True / False

OVERVIEW Questions:

20. Debaters can gain or lose points for points of information.
   True / False